Black Studies Major Form

Name of Student	Class Year	Name of Advisor	Today's Date

- Black Studies majors are required to take eight (8) courses: three (3) core courses, three (3) distribution courses, and two (2) electives.
- The three core courses are BLST 111, 200, and 300.
- The three distribution courses consist of one course in three of four geographic areas: Africa; the United States; Latin America and the Caribbean; and Africa and its Diaspora.
- The student may choose the two electives from the department's offerings, from cross-listed courses, or from other courses at the Five Colleges. External courses must be approved by the department.
- Majors fulfill the department's comprehensive requirement by successfully completing Black Studies 300.
